

REHABILITATION TABLE

Criminal convictions are 'spent' or forgotten, after a rehabilitation period. This period varies according to the offence. The amendments to the Exceptions Order 1975 (Order 2013) provide that certain spent convictions and cautions are 'protected' and are not subject to disclosure to employers and cannot be taken into account. The Exceptions order of 2016 allows questions to be asked about spent convictions and cautions and allows them to be taken into account when recruiting to certain occupations even if the person does not engage in regulated activity on a regular basis.

The following table sets out the rehabilitation period for sentences with a buffer period. These start from the date of conviction and are made up of the original sentence, plus an additional buffer period.

Sentence	Buffer period for adults (18 and over at the time of conviction or the time the disposal is administered).	Buffer period for young people (under 18 at the time of conviction or the time the disposal is administered).
Custodial sentence* of over 4 years, or a public protection sentence	Never spent	Never spent
Custodial sentence of over 30 months (2 ½ years) and up to and including 48 months (4 years)	7 years	3½ years
Custodial sentence of over 6 months and up to and including 30 months (2 ½ years)	4 years	2 years
Custodial sentence of 6 months or less	2 years	18 months
Community order or youth rehabilitation order	1 year	6 months

*Custodial sentence includes a sentence of imprisonment (both an immediate custodial sentence and a suspended sentence), a sentence of detention in a young offender institution, a sentence of detention under section 91 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000, a detention and training order, a sentence of youth custody, a sentence of corrective training and a sentence of Borstal training.

In relation to any community or youth rehabilitation order which has no specified end date, the rehabilitation period is 2 years from the date of conviction.

The following table sets out the rehabilitation period for sentences which do not have "buffer periods" and for which the rehabilitation period runs from the date of conviction:
